Centennial Celebration, Homecoming and Big Chautauqua Week Beginning July 14th

BOY SCOUT WEEK.

Drive for 1,000,000 Honorary Adult Members.

Under the championship of C. L. Walker thousands of men and women in Fulton county are mobilizing for the part this community is to play in the great nation-wide "Boy Scout Week" to be conducted from June 8th to Flag Day, June 14th, in recognition of the remarkable services rendered by the Boy Scouts of America during the war.

This seven day demonstration, unique in the annals of drives, was urged by the President of the United States himself in a proclamation issued earlier in the week. It will aim to focus the attention of the public on the program of the movement and awaken communities everywhere to the influence of Scouting on the boyhood of the nation.

Parades, pageants, masques and stunts of a thousand varieties will be staged in the big cities and remote country hamlets alike, and talks on the true worth of Scouting will be given in churches, schools and other public places. Special moving pictures are now being filmed with Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin and other leading screen stars as principals, and these will be shown in theatres everywhere.

Never before in the history of the Scout Movement has anything been attempted on so great a scale," said Chairman W. G. McAdoo, when asked for a word of comment on the coming drive.

"We want to project the light of public attention on the Boy Scouts of America as a movement which has grown to be the largest of its kind the world has ever known, a brotherhood of organized boyhood which builds solidly for the future, which prepares the young of today for the responsibilities of citizenship tomorrow."

"The work of the Scouts during the war brought out the fact that boys are no longer negligible factors in the active life of the country. By selling $300,000,000 worth of Liberty Bonds, $500,000,000 worth of War Savings Stamps, locating 20,000,000 feet of valiant lumber for the War Department, collecting thousands of barrels of pits for the government and co-operating with war agencies of every nature, they proved their mettle and established themselves high in the favor of the nation."

"In the rush of events and the urgency of the war, the accomplishments of the boys did not stand out as amazingly as they would in ordinary times. But the big men and women of the country are determined that the contributions of the Boy Scouts shall not be forgotten. They are banding themselves into a mighty organization of gratitude—to express their appreciation of what they did, to erect a supporting auxiliary membership and of sufficient leadership that will insure the future growth and development of the movement."

The present membership of the Boy Scout Movement includes about 472,000 Scouts and leaders. Notwithstanding this tremendous organization, but two hundred and fifty of the above are paid officials.

For the purpose of this campaign, the country has been divided into districts based on the Federal Reserve divisions and the members will be secured in quotas as follows:

District	Headquarters	Quota
1st district Boston		83,333
2nd district New York		300,000
3rd district Philadelphia		83,333
4th district Cleveland		100,000
5th district Richmond		40,000
6th district Atlanta		145,000
7th district Chicago		43,333
8th district St. Louis		35,000
9th district Minneapolis		43,333
10th district Kansas City		21,000
11th district Dallas		67,000
12th district San Francisco

OUR GRANDFATHERS

drenched horses for colic. That was the old way which was uncertain and unsafe. Farris' Colic Remedy—dissolve away with drenching—is applied on the horses' tongue with a dropper which comes packed in each bottle. Get it today. We guarantee it.—F. E. Case.

The Courier editors and families leave this week for a month's vacation, and our readers will be delighted to have a break in the monotony of thirteen straight years. Rev. W. F. Renneberg, as editor, will take up where this south terminates and flourish the quill, paste-pot and scissors as his fancy and occasion may dictate. "H. P." Allison, master of the "instrument," will handle the linotype, bringing out the exquisite harmonies of words and music. "Billy" West, late of Bill's, will preside in the ad and job room, where cordial customers will be given a most cordial reception, with refreshments at 11:30 p. m. Welding the wooden handle to the pewter spoon is his specialty. "George," the Chicago pressman, will open at the usual hour each morning and give out rain-checks when called for. Bill collectors will find an excellent view from the roof garden. Take the elevator. Advertisers, who are in the habit of waiting until the last minute to get their copy in, will take notice that a card will be issued, entitling them to a rising cone of thanks, if they will change up during June and get said copy to the printer on or before each Tuesday. Ditto news items. Under any and all circumstances, publishing a newspaper is as simple as cutting pie with a knife, but any courtesies shown the new management will be appreciated by the old. Give 'em a work out. Yours—Bill and John.

FIRM INCORPORATES

Clark-Walker Milling Co. Assumes New Name. Capital $50,000.

Hickman's flour mill, formerly operated under the name of Clark-Walker Milling Co., has been incorporated under a new name—Hickman Milling & Feed Co. with a capital stock of $50,000.

This institution started out in a very modest way, but the business has grown until the management has been forced to enlarge and expand to meet the growing demands; hence the incorporation. There is no change in ownership, Clark and Roy Clark and A. J. Walker being the stockholders.

WATCH THE LICE

Robert Lewis, a son of Mrs. Nannie Belle Lewis, of west of town, returned home Monday from France, where he has been since April 28, 1917. He was a dispatch bearer on the front lines, but escaped without a scratch.

Mrs. H. L. Lewis, of near town, tells us she has a great deal to be thankful for, inasmuch as the last one of seven of her grandsons, who were in service in France, returned safely home Friday. These young men are Robert Lewis, Chas. Sellers, Ernest Spillers, Cliff Morrison, Hubert Spillers, Chas. Elbert and Edinger Monday.

IT'S ALL BUNCOMB

Republican criticism of President Wilson's conduct of the war, it seems, will be one of the main accomplishments of the extra session of Congress. If members of the party are hoping to gain anything by this they are sadly mistaken.

American soldiers, returning from France tell the true story. They speak with pride and say they were the best cared for soldiers in Europe, despite the fact they were 3,000 miles from their base of supplies with a submarine-infested sea to cross.

This "buncomb" about the wasting of money is like criticizing a man for extinguishing flames, destroying his home and letting a chicken house burn. It is probably true that money may have been unwisely spent but Americans will bear in mind it was expended in winning the war and not in losing it and paying indemnities to former Emperor Wilhelm as had been expected in the German circles.

Their action is all buncomb.

Lee Atwill arrived Friday from Chicago for a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Atwill, and his wife and baby, who have been here visiting a few weeks.

R. A. Tyler, Judge W. B. Amburge, Jas. Mayes and L. P. Lebowitz went to Paducah Friday to participate in the big Shrine ceremonial and incidentally to help punish the Hickman members of the novice class. In this class were 228 victims, only three of which were from this city. This trio had a hot time and several mishaps. One of them lost a part of his wearing apparel and another was forced to kiss a pig before a large audience of spectators and the third was caught with a lady on his lap.

$12,500 DAMAGE.

John Clark Sues Frank Denton for That Amount.

John Clark, now a resident of Bardwell, has instituted a suit for damages against Frank Denton for the alleged killing of Oh Clark, a daughter of John Clark. It will be remembered that the girl was shot and killed at her home a few miles from Bardwell a few weeks ago, and Denton was arrested, charged with the deed. At his examining trial he was held by County Judge William Clark, who asked for $12,500 damages and the suit was brought by his attorney, R. B. Platt, of Clinton.

HESTER IS DIRECTOR.

Aubrey Hester, of Mayfield, has been appointed director in this district for the Salvation Army home service fund campaign which begins June 23. This district is composed of the counties of Ballard, Carlisle, Caldwell, Callaway, Christian, Fulton, Graves, Hickman, Lyon, Marshall, McCracken and Trigg.

The Confederate pension roll at Frankfort for the month of May shows a decrease of 149 since the February allotments were made.

It has been said that certain good roads in France were the means of winning certain important battles. Granting this is true, one couldn't expect much in the way of victories in the west end of Fulton county, from a road, the highways are like a pike, but good roads standpoint. From Jordan in the west end they are infested with muddy mud-holes and gaping ruts.

LOOKING BACKWARD. CONCRETE ELEVATOR

Historical Data of Pioneer Days in Hickman and Fulton County; Facts and Traditions Arent the Hundredth Anniversary of Hickman.

—Compiled by Judge B. T. Davis—

The modern Indians were entirely distinct from the Mound Builders. Indians were scattered over the whole of North America at the time of Columbus' discovery. Scientists find their languages to be divided into fifty-eight different stocks. It is thought that most of the languages had a great number of words while in some of them it is said that the words were so few that individuals could not converse after dark because they could not see the gestures made by the speaker.

Some little agriculture was carried on by the Indians. In suitable places they would raise beans, melons, pumpkins, squash, potatoes, gourds and Indian corn. They had developed the Indian corn into different varieties and colors and it seems that different colored ears of corn were used as symbols for some purpose in their religious rites.

Before the colonists came metallic weapons were unknown. No wheel vehicle of any kind and no animal except the dog was known to the Indians. They took advantage of the locality and of natural objects in the erection of such houses as they had. In summer time they used the shelter of a tree; in the winter time they constructed rude lodges and wigwags. A common house was formed by setting poles with the bottom in a circle and fastened at the top which were covered with grass and bark or skin to keep off the rain or cold. The Indians were restless and imprudent in their habits, they were cruel and destructive in their nature and would not form a permanent habitation. A few huts in a place near a spring or stream of water constituted their largest places of settlements or towns.

There was no merchandising among them. Doubtless the whole village would share in the hunt and the chase, the game was known of the method of curing or preserving meat. The vegetables such as corn and beans could be preserved and the melons, squash and potatoes were consumed from the patches or gardens. They lived on wild fruits when they could be found and when they could not find food in the winter or which they may have gathered and stored in dry places. All work was done by the women and children. The warriors' time was taken up in battle or in the hunt and it was much beneath his dignity to bring home the game which he may have secured.

Between the Ohio and the Cumberland rivers no Indian towns or settlements were found by the early pioneers. In Clark county a place known as the Old Indian Fields was thought to be the last town occupied by the Indians but Kentucky is given up to be the battle ground between the Indians north of the Ohio and the Indians south of the Cumberland. There was no habitation in Kentucky until the settlement by the white people. Chillicothe, Ohio is an Indian name of a town in that locality. The Old Indian Fields in Clark county Kentucky was known to the white people as Lul-beard. Nick-a-Jack was the name of an old Indian town on the line between the states of Tennessee and Georgia.

The Indians were strong and muscular. For a short distance they were not swifter than the white men but their endurance was much greater. An Indian could maintain his speed in running for several hours. Dancing was known among all of the tribes and had a distinct significance for every event. There was the war dance, peace dance, pipe dance, and a mourning dance. The warriors would decorate themselves with different pigments or colors. In the war dance black and red paints were used. The name, Few Clothes, could have been applied to every carrier. In painting themselves for the dances they would draw a line down the back and on the breast and on each side would be drawn figures or pictures of birds, animals and fishes. It is thought these designs were to terrify their enemies or to protect them against the evil spirits.

Within the last hundred years forms of writing have been used by the Indians and the method of writing is so simple that the Indian can learn to write his language and read it in a very few weeks time. Each character or letter represents one definite syllable or sound and he is not bothered in learning the arbitrary characters representing the elementary sounds in modern languages.

L. Kasnor and B. Lindner, of Nashville, have located in Fulton and will open a dry goods, clothing, hat and shoe store.

W. W. Pruett, one of our leading farmers, says he is going to purchase a tractor and run it day and night, weather conditions permitting, until he can catch up with his farm operations. Continued rains which delayed planting, and wheat now ready to cut, has the farmer in a tight place, to say the least. The tractor is one of the solutions to the problem.

We are informed that credit was given the Christian church for the innovation of discontinuing the charge for admission to our public school commencement when this honor should go to the school board. Our notation was only in line with what we heard, plus the fact that the change was made. At any rate, it is commendable. It does away with a little catch-penny scheme, reflecting anything but credit.

Clark-Walker Milling Co. Will Have 30-Car Capacity.

Work began this week on a new concrete elevator for the Hickman Milling & Feed Co. (successors to the Clark-Walker Milling Co.) adjoining the mill property in West Hickman, W. J. Shaw being the contractor.

The building will be 32x32 feet, 45 feet high or equivalent to a five story building. It will be divided into nine compartments, with a total capacity of something like 30 car loads. This will enable the company to stock up on grain at times when it is on the market, and not be forced to shut down for want of it, as is the case now.

In addition to the concrete building, a new office building will be erected and a general over-hauling given the grist mill.

The Courier is glad to see this local industry expanding and prospering. It deserves our business because it is a home institution run by home men; also because it puts out a high-grade product. Of the 700 flour mills in the United States, only three received a grade of 100 on analysis of its flour—and one of these is the Hickman mill.

PROFITING INCREASES.

There is more profiteering going on right now than there was during the war. Prices of necessities are gradually going up. There is no real necessity for this. The profiteers are robbing and plundering and shearing the people and the salaried man, ground between the mill-stones is being smashed as flat as the pan-cake the elephant stepped on. We read a good deal about the hard existence in Germany. At present prices of necessities what is the matter with the life of a man here in Union City that has to pay rent, lights, water, clothes and groceries and so forth on $2 per day not being as hard and grinding and unendurable as that of any German? What boasts that we have conquered Germany the U. S. government permits the profiteers to take possession of our bodies and our souls?—Union City News-Banner.

SUB CHASER GOES UP.

The little sub-chaser, advance guard to the flotilla, due up this week, passed Hickman about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon enroute to St. Louis. The entire squadron is to go up stream without making any stops, except for fuel, oil, will return some thirty days later, stopping at all towns along the route.

WORDS FROM HOME.

Statements That May Be Investigated. Testimony of Hickman Citizens.

When a Hickman citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Hickman resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

J. S. Belt, 607 Troy, Ave., says: "I was taken with a sharp pain across the small of my back which bothered me a lot when I bent over. Through an acquaintance I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box at Helm & Ellison's Drug Store. I got the very best of relief from them and I am glad to say a good word for a medicine like Doan's Kidney Pills."

A SAFE MAJORITY.

Several Republican Senators have come out strongly against any action that would endanger world peace.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. Worsline, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and even more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as told to Mrs. Worsline.

IN RECOVERED TRENT

Old Consiglio Castle in Trent.

By LLOYD ALLEN, Special Staff Correspondent.
(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

TRENT, in the upper valley of the Adige, has just been restored to Italy, and at the peace conference the final pact between the nations that fought Germany will undoubtedly give Trent to the Italian nation for all time.

Leaving Padua early in the morning in one of the powerful automobiles of the Italian supreme command, in the first party of newspaper men to visit these lands reclaimed from Austria, I arrived in Trent by way of Verona after a five-hour ride, during which we passed through the wrecked villages that mark the old mountain battle fronts of the Austrian and Italian armies.

Along the fine rock roadways that run along the Adige river, a swift-flowing mountain stream, a small line of refugees was plodding along, on foot for the most part, returning to homesteads deserted during more than two years of war.

Just a few miles north of Verona the first sight of war's destruction was the little wrecked village of Marco, for two years under shell fire. As we passed through the place the evidences of battle were still ample. Austrian trench helmets, clips of cartridges and discarded trench spades were to be seen scattered among the piles of stone and timber of wrecked homes. The beautifully frescoed village church was nothing but a shell of walls.

On the roadway leading up to Marco hundreds of Austro-Hungarian prisoners were busy repairing the roadbeds. Some wore their very ornamental dress overcoats lavishly in the display of knotted braid and fur.

Towns of the Trentino.

Trent in itself is a rather inconspicuous town. It had a war-time population of some 25,000 persons, a large majority of whom were Italians, we were told. In peace times the population is around 40,000. But in the whole province of Trentino there are more than half a million people, and it is the province, as well as the town, that Italy fought for at the cost of 400,000 men killed and nearly a million wounded.

Back of the Italian demand for the Trentino is a sentimental reason, and a practical commercial reason. For the sentimental and national side first, Italy points out, through her biggest statesmen, generals and propagandists, that 420,000 of the 600,000 persons living in the Trentino are Italians speaking the Italian language. Trent as well as the smaller towns in the Trentino, such as Rovereto, Ala, Arco, Leivo and Pergine, are filled with buildings of Italian design, decorated with Italian art and using the Italian language in the schools and offices.

We passed through several of these towns. The people on the streets were as Italian as the street crowds of Padua, Verona and Vicenza, cities of the Venetian plain through which we passed in the earlier stages of our trip.

Signs, decades old, on the buildings of the Trentino were in Italian, advertising the wares certain Italian merchants were trying to sell.

The practical reasons that Italy has for keeping her tricolor flying from the mountain cities of the Trentino are numerous and vital.

Every Available Inch Tilled.

First of all the Trentino is a very productive region where vineyards and grain fields flourish on both sides of the Adige, producing large quantities of foods. It can be said truthfully that every available inch of land in this section is in a state of cultivation. To an American farmer the intense method of soil tilling would prove a revelation.

Only through centuries of careful work with hoe and plow has it been possible to create the garden that extends from Verona, where the Adige river strikes the Venetian plain, to the impassable mountain valleys many miles away where the absolute absence of soil forbids any attempt at farming.

The fields on either side of the river are broken into small lots, thousands being as small as a city block; many are much smaller in order to completely fill a segment of rock-locked earth. On these plots, that have been leveled with infinite care, the farmer of the Trentino grows grain, garden truck, grapes, and often other fruit. The grapevines are kept pruned to about four and a half feet high for the main stem, which grows to the thickness of a man's wrist, while the tendrils are trained onto sticks, or in many cases to trees that are kept pruned down to a thick stump six or seven feet high with small branches half an inch in thickness protruding in a sheaf from the stump.

Ancient Consiglio Castle.

During the middle ages Trent was a typical fortified city crowned with an old feudal castle. Built in 1490, this stronghold, Castle Consiglio, has come down to the present generation in a beautiful state of preservation. While the Austrians held Trent the place was used as a kind of town jail. Cesare Battisti, native of Trent, an ardent pro-Italian who had the nerve to enlist in the Italian army against Austria, was shot in the courtyard of the castle, and is today the town and the Italian nation's martyr.

Stored in the wonderful old castle were 80,000 captured Austrian rifles. Piles of gas masks, trench tools, murderous trench knives and other odds and ends of fighting man's equipment were stacked in several of the large rooms.

In one of the main corridors was a typical Austrian torture machine. It consisted of two rings, the first about nine inches from the floor and the second about four feet above ground. The practice was to fasten a prisoner's ankles to the lower ring by means of a piece of rope, while the unfortunate man's hands were tied behind him through the upper ring. This threw all the prisoner's weight on the wrists and ankles. Usually a man fainted after several hours.

Inspection of the old Consiglio castle revealed how the war machine of the sixteenth century—for the castle itself was a fort—had been made to serve the purposes of the twentieth century war lords.

In the highest room of the place, a circular chamber of the tallest tower, was all that remained of a German wireless outfit. The operators had made themselves comfortable in the damp old place by putting storm windows in the loopholes that were originally cut for the convenience of cross-bow men.

To get to the tower one has to pass through a frescoed courtyard where men were hanged centuries ago. About five or six feet from the old gallows, a double affair, runs a sheltered gallery from which the dukes and their courtiers, sheltered from the weather, could witness the execution.

Some of the public squares in the city of Trent have fine old buildings in Italian architecture, decorated from ground to roof with gorgeous frescoes, the coloring of which is still vivid.

THE IDLE RICH.

The teacher asked his pupils to write an essay, telling what they would do if they had $5,000,000.

Every pupil except little William Powers began writing immediately. William sat idle, twiddling his fingers and watching flies on the ceiling.

Teacher collected the papers and William handed in a blank sheet.

"How is this, William?" asked the teacher. "Is this your essay? Every other pupil has written two sheets or more, while you have done nothing."

"Well," replied William, "that's what I would do if I were a millionaire."

D. S. TIME TO CONTINUE.

There is no probability of repeal of the daylight saving law this summer, says Washington advices, as opponents of the repeal seem to have been successful in preventing the Rules Committee from calling out the resolution to be attached as a rider to the Agricultural Bill. This will delay final action probably to October.

Opponents of prohibition see new hope in the threatened split of "dry" forces in Congress over means of enforcing nation-wide prohibition. It is generally believed in official quarters that they will base their fight on the high cost of enforcing the amendment under bills now before the House. Both sides are preparing for quick action as the date when the amendment is slated to become effective draws near.

National Guard Loses Most

Suffers More Severely in War Than Regulars or National Army

Study of casualty statistics of thirty combat divisions of the American fighting forces in the war, issued by the war department and giving figures up to a recent date, sheds some light on the relative part played by the regular army, the National Guard, the National army and the marine corps in the war. The tables show those killed in action, dead of wounds, missing in action or taken prisoner. Field signal battalions, ambulance companies, trains, and some other specialized branches of the service are not included, but the tabulation shows graphically the total losses of each basic section of the army.

Slightly wounded or others who were able to return to the service are not included, the figures applying only to those who were absolute losses so far as active military operations were concerned.

Figuring the percentage of loss, not according to the numbers in each section but for the total American force, it is found that the losses of the regular army were 30 per cent, the National Guard 39 per cent, the National army 27 per cent, and the marine corps 4 per cent.

The table follows:

	Killed in action.	Died of wounds.	Missing in action.	Prisoners.	Total.	Pct.
National Guard	11,555	4,506	5,445	1,457	23,023	39
Regulars	8,524	3,549	5,297	551	17,921	30
National army	8,023	3,297	3,890	798	15,918	27
Marines	1,399	707	271	76	2,444	4
Totals	29,492	12,029	14,903	2,882	59,087

*The marines are listed with the Second division of regulars.

WELCOMES INVESTIGATION.

If charges against Senator Stanley, to be based on alleged draft board irregularities, misuse of pardoning power and other violations of executive authority to win votes for himself, are to be probed by the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, there was no evidence of it as yet.

So far as Kentucky's junior Senator is concerned, he says he welcomes a sweeping investigation of his record while Governor of the Commonwealth.

If the senate desires to turn the spotlight on it, he insists he is not a whit concerned about the matter. If there is no grounds for all this talk, quite a few Fulton county folks would like to see the Senator exonerated by the committee, clarifying their idea that there is a nigger in the woodpile.

MEMORIAL TO DEAD.

Those Who Gave Lives in Service to be Permanently Remembered.

Twenty-Seven Hundred golden stars, forming a constellation that adds luster to the brilliant record of patriotism of the Commonwealth, shed their effulgent rays to brighten 2,700 Kentucky homes made dark by war and death. For there were two thousand seven hundred, 2,726 to be exact, Kentucky boys and men and women—yes, women, too—who gave their lives in the service of their country and her allies for the cause of liberty in the great world war.

The Kentucky Council of Defense, headed by Edward W. Hines, distinguished Kentucky lawyer, as chairman, assisted by Fred P. Caldwell, historian, and a loyal force of volunteer workers throughout the State, has just completed the compilation of Kentucky's death roster, as nearly complete as it has been possible from the source of information available. This roster is made public today for the first time. It contains the name, address and cause of death of every soldier, sailor, marine, nurse or other person who died in the service, whether American, British or French army, who went from a Kentucky home to do battle against the hellish Hun from the beginning in 1914 to the end, more than four years later.

Fulton County's list is published in this issue. If any person knows of any name that has been omitted, the Council of Defense would be glad to have full information sent to Miss Bessie Thompson, Hickman, Ky., who is the County Historian.

The mother, father, brother, sister or other next of kin to each of these 2,700 and more heroes is to receive a token of recognition and appreciation of the supreme sacrifice for country and mankind. It is an engraved certificate, personally signed by Senator A. O. Stanley, who was Kentucky's war Governor, and by Chairman Hines, of the Council of Defense.

How Kentucky Soldiers Died.

The 2,726 names in this roster are grouped under six classifications, as follows:

Killed in action	734
Died of Disease	1,501
Died of Wounds	305
Death by Accident	89
Lost at Sea	55
Cause not Stated	62

Total 2,726

The heavy mortality from disease was due most largely to the influenza epidemic of last fall, both in the American camps and overseas. The actual fighting fatalities are the 1,039 killed in action and died of wounds. Under the head of deaths by accident are several who were killed in airplane catastrophes. Lost at sea include those who died aboard transports and those whose ships were sunk or never accounted for. Under the head of cause not stated were several deaths in German prison camps.

Thrilling acts of heroism and undaunted courage in the face of death, some of which rival the wonderful exploit of Sgt. York, the fighting Tennessee mountain elder, have been brought to light by the Council of Defense during the compilation of the State's death roster.

There was Maj. Tobe C. Cope, of Fort Thomas, Ky., who commanding a battalion of the 371st Infantry, continued to lead his men after being mortally wounded.

Private Edgar L. Cox, of Bradfordsville, Marion county, was recognized by a posthumous award of the Distinguished Service Cross for his bravery in volunteering to make a reconnaissance 600 yards in front of the front line positions. He was killed by a sniper while on that mission.

Private Henry Davis, of Pemerton, recomited from an exposed position of the front line after leading several attacks on machine guns. He was mortally wounded. For his bravery he was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

Capt. Lee S. Eads, a well-known young man of Lexington, received the Distinguished Service Cross for remaining on duty with a detachment of his company after being mortally wounded.

In 30 Yards of Enemy.

Capt. Ruben B. Hutchcraft, of Paris, one of the Bluegrass section's most popular young men, led his platoon to the most advanced point reached by any American troops near Sedan. He was killed while making a reconnaissance within thirty yards of enemy machine guns. A posthumous award of the Distinguished Service Cross was made for this display of heroism.

Private Carter K. Koon, of Fredonia, Caldwell county, volunteered to pass through heavy shellfire to rescue wounded comrades. He made two trips successfully, but was mortally wounded on the third. He received the Distinguished Service Cross.

Private Ambers Sapp, of Nepton, Fleming county, lost his life while destroying wire entanglements under a heavy barrage.

First Lieut. Raymond Scholberth, of Versailles, Woodford county, showed extraordinary heroism in action near Banterville, France, for which the Distinguished Service Cross was awarded. He was killed by a shell fragment.

Sergt. John S. Simpson, of Ready, Grayson county, was another for whom a Distinguished Service Cross award was made. He was one of four men from this town of only fifty inhabitants killed in service. On the Soissons sector he led a squad of men beyond and back of an enemy machine gun nest, killed the gun crew and made the advance at that point impossible.

And so the list might go on with scores and hundreds of stories of individual bravery and heroic deportment under fire.

By no means was all the heroism displayed on land. Four Kentuckians were among the crew of the Cyclops, the Mystery ship of the war, now miss-

FOOLING WITH HEALTH SERIOUS

I have frequently asked druggists "What do you push in a blood medicine?" The answer usually came "The kind I can make the most money on." My answer has always been "Not me." I have succeeded pretty well and I have always recommended the one that I had found by experience to be the best and the one I would be willing to take myself or give to members of my family. I have never offered the public a medicine that we do not use at home. This is why I can offer "Number 40 For The Blood," with a clear conscience; we have not only tried it on thousands of others but on ourselves. We take it in all cases where a blood medicine is needed no matter in what form it shows itself and we get splendid results in constipation, kidney, stomach and liver troubles. I firmly believe if every one would begin in the spring and take "Number 40" they would escape malaria and fevers in all forms. J. C. Mendenhall, 40 years a druggist, Evansville, Ind.

ing and unaccounted for for fourteen months.

Five were aboard the Otranto when she was sunk.

Two Fulton county boys, Claud Jackson and Clarence F. Kimes were reported as killed in action and memorial services were held at Hickman in their honor. Claude Jackson was afterwards found to have been a prisoner in Germany and both he and Clarence Kimes have now returned to home and friends much alive.

The names of two women appear in the roster. Mrs. Mattie B. Hays, an army nurse at Camp Zachary Taylor, whose home was at Taylor boulevard and Longfield avenue, Louisville, and Miss Eleanor Mourner, a Red Cross nurse from Covington. Hugh Brent Chambers, of Bardonia, Nelson county, a Y. M. C. A. secretary, is included among those who died of disease.

State-Wide Historical Drive.

The Kentucky Council of Defense is launching a State-wide historical campaign for the entire month of June. The purpose of this campaign is to interest the public generally in the historical work which the State council is now carrying on and to secure the help necessary to complete this work.

The purpose of the historical work is to make a permanent record in each county of the part the people of that county took in the war, both through the fighting forces and through the civilian war workers.

RETURNING SOLDIERS TO DETERMINE ACTION ON REPEAL OF PROHIBITION.

Washington, June 2.—What the returning soldier has to say will determine the action of Congress on the President's request for the repeal of war-time prohibition affecting light wines and beers, declared Representative James A. Gallivan of Massachusetts yesterday. "As fast as the troops are landing here they are being heard from," he said, "and already the effect of this sentiment is noted here."

Gallivan introduced a bill in Congress on the first day of the session to repeal the war-time prohibition on wines and beer.

"I have seen the statement made that it was a dry army which defeated the Hun," Gallivan said. "The fanatical friends of prohibition have not hesitated to misrepresent the facts in order to prove their case."

"Everyone knows that our boys in France were given light wines and beer. It is quite true that some busy-bodies tried to deprive them of even this light indulgence, but as such an order would have meant changing the laws and customs of France, they did not get very far."

"Father Duffey, the beloved priest of the Rainbow Division, who went into the trenches with the troops while swivel chairs and drawing fat salaries, the fanatical prohibitionists, sitting in were trying to take away from the boys, has this to say: 'There was very little drinking among the men, and what there was did them no harm; it did them good. When they came out of the trenches, dirty and muddy and grumpy, I thought many times the money of the trustees' fund could have been put to no better use than in rolling a keg of wine down every company's street.'"

Earl W. Witt, Fulton, died of disease.

Tales of heroism equal to that displayed by Tennessee's God-fearing, fighting, mountain elder, the brave Sgt. York, could be written around the glorious deeds of valor of many of the 2700 Kentuckians who gave their lives for Liberty, in the great world war.

Kentuckians, who eager to fight joined the Canadian, British, and French armies long before America entered.

Kentuckians, who went over the top "into the jaws of death, into the mouth of Hell," as did the "Immortal Six Hundred."

Kentuckians, who set out to sea and whose ships never reached port, whose gravestones are the ocean's bed.

Fulton County played no small part in the deeds of gallantry and heroism which marked the long successful struggle. Above we give a list of those of ours who paid the price. To their memory we offer our grateful tribute.

CHALLENGES CRITICS.

In a memorial day address in a cemetery near Paris where white crosses mark the last resting place of thousands of American soldiers, President Wilson hurled a challenge to critics of the League of Nations and declared that the League is a covenant to insure that men who gave their lives in battle did not die in vain. He said that standards of the old order, which are the roots of war, are attempting to assert themselves again. He declared "that if this is not the final fight there will be another which will be final." Elsewhere in his address he said that the days of secret councils are past, because the people are in the saddle and private diplomacy will no longer control the destiny of nations.

No safer, more reasonable proposition ever offered you.

THINK IT OVER. ACT TODAY.

The beauty about it is that it is right here where you can see and know just what is being done and that you are helping to develop a home institution, and receive good dividends besides.

The packing business is peculiar in this respect—that it handles its business on the smallest margins of profit of any business—but that it is turned over oftner (almost twelve times per year,) thereby making good returns in the end.

For many years we have planned for this thing that we are now seeing grow into a great industry. It will be several times larger in the next three years.

The banks of the country have commenced to let money on live stock. This is a great forward step and should be encouraged to the extent that it not only helps the large dealers, but the smallest as well. It will cause the live stock industry to double again in the next three years and at the same time greatly increase the deposits of the banks. Co-operation is the thing we most need. When we help the other fellow, it also serves to help ourselves.

Indorsed as it is by bankers, farmers, merchants, clerks and people in all walks of life, this company is sure of success.

WORK FOR SOLDIERS.

Baker Lauds Splendid Service of Salvation Army in France.

Secretary of War Baker, in a telegram to Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, gives utterance to his appreciation of the work which the Salvation Army accomplished for the American Soldier in France. Secretary Baker, one of the speakers at the mass meeting in Madison Square Garden, at which the Salvation Army opened its $13,000,000 Home Service Fund campaign, referred to "the splendid spirit of helpfulness" which actuated Salvation Army overseas workers and speaks glowingly of the affectionate and enthusiastic way in which the soldiers received the ministrations of the Salvationists. His approval follows:

"I will avail myself of every opportunity to testify in the most public and helpful way to the splendid work the Salvation Army did with the American Expeditionary Force in France. The men and women of the Salvation Army were admirably selected; their service was one of great devotion; its spirit was always on the broadest humanitarian basis and the work of the army was affectionately and enthusiastically received by the soldiers, so that the whole relation ship between the Salvation Army and the American Expeditionary Force was characterized by a splendid spirit of helpfulness out of which an incalculable amount of relief, comfort, sympathy and happiness was derived by our soldiers. The Salvation Army is entitled to have its friends know both the devotion it has shown and the success with which its ministry has been attended."

The people of Kentucky outside of Louisville and Jefferson county, who already have given liberally in a successful campaign will have the opportunity to aid in this noble work the week of June 23 to 30.

The apportionment for Fulton county has been set at $1200.00 which has been divided equally between the eastern and western portions of the county. E. R. Ellison has been appointed by the Chairman of this District to direct the work in this portion of the county.

I Owe My Life to PERUNA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the best doctors in the country gave me up and told me I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. Travelling from town to town, throughout the country, and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for hours at a time while playing my trade as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had colds frequently; so when this would occur I paid little attention to it, until last December when I contracted a severe case, which, through neglect on my part, settled on my lungs. When almost too late, I began doctoring, but, without avail, until I heard of Peruna. It cured me! so I cannot praise it too highly."

LEMONS MAKE SKIN WHITE, SOFT, CLEAR.
Make this beauty lotion for a few cents and see for yourself.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove complexion blemishes; to whiten the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost of one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When applied daily to the face, neck, arms and hands it should help to bleach, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist will supply three ounces of orchard white at very little cost and the grocer has the lemons. adv.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel is quicksilver and acts like dynamite on your liver.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and don't gripe. adv.

SHOW RE-OPENS.
Crystal Theatre Opens With Bigger and Better Play House.

The Crystal Theatre was re-opened Saturday, after being out of business since about the middle of March, at which time it was destroyed by fire. John R. Wright, owner, and houseman and machine operator Dewey Lampkin, may well feel proud of the new playhouse. Mr. Wright bought the Faris building, consisting of two store rooms and threw them together, making the new place much larger than the old, having a seating capacity of 401 as against 253. There is also a stage, 10x30 feet, which will take care of vaudeville stuff. A new 10-instrument electric orchestra furnishes the necessary music and was installed at the modest cost (?) of $1,500. The opera chairs are new and comfortable, being designed to conform to the sloping floor. The mere fact that the building is larger and will accommodate larger crowds means that popular prices will prevail where it would be necessary to charge more in a smaller place.

The front, too, is attractive with an original design—two large arches, in Stucco finish, supported by large columns. There are two front entrances, with a classy box office between. The operating room is at the rear of the building and does away with the ordinary fire hazard. As a whole, it is one of the best movie shows in this section, and the fans are delighted that it is running again.

After Friday, the name Crystal will be dropped for a new and more appropriate name—to be suggested by the patrons. Three judges—J. C. Ellison, H. N. Cowgill and T. T. Swayne—will select one name from among those suggested by the show's patrons. The winner will receive a season pass.

PREACHER HELD.
Charged With Abandonment and Non-Support of His Family.

Rev. Ed Lucy, whose home is in the Cunningham district, was placed in custody of officers of the law Monday and a charge registered against him of abandoning his family, which consists of a wife and one or more children. For several years, it is stated, Lucy has been a member of a certain religious sect and has been obeying what he doubtless terms a call to preach the gospel of the holy Nazarene. It is said, also, that he has habitually refused to provide for his family as a dutiful husband should, and on this account he will now have to answer to the offended law. His trial will come up today before his honor, Magistrate Bone of the Cunningham district. He gave bond Monday for his appearance in that tribunal today. —Carlisle County News.

CHEAPER BEEF.
Grass-Fed Cattle on Market Means a Reduction in Prices.

A decrease in the price of beef is "immediately at hand," according to a statement issued Saturday by the bureau of public relations, American Meat Packers' Association.

"Despite that beef already is cheaper than pork, poultry and mutton, it probably will decline further within the next few days," said the statement. "There are several reasons. Cheaper grass-fed cattle, which hitherto have not been plentiful, are now moving to market. Exports of beef from the United States have practically ceased. The government has stopped buying."

"It may take a few days for the lower price to reach the consumer. The reason is obvious. It lies in the fact that appreciable time elapses between arrival of cheaper steers at markets and the appearance of beef from those steers on the consumers' tables. The retailer cannot lower his price until he replenishes his stock of beef at the reduced figures expected."

CARRY PRIVATE PARCELS.

As an offset for under pay to rural mail carriers, and to stimulate the use of the rural parcel post routes by farmers, the government will henceforth permit the carriers to handle nonmailable packages as private business on their routes and pocket the money charged for transport themselves, according to the announcement made by Hon. J. I. Blackstone of Washington, fourth assistant postmaster general.

Since the rural system was first inaugurated in Virginia in 1896 the carriers have been tied specifically down to only government matter, he said, but now the government has reached the conclusion that the time is ripe to help the carriers and assist in getting the farm products to the cities via the parcel post routes, which will take a mighty whack at the cost of living.

FLASHLIGHTS

Tomorrow must have no charm for the man who is sure that he knows everything.

Nobody yells louder for mercy when he is cornered than the bully who has never shown any mercy.

Every once in a while we get a chuckle out of hearing some millionaire tell a friend that he is short of ready cash.

You can't have your cake and eat it, but what most of us want in this life is the joy of having a little cake to eat now and then.

We don't know much about human nature, but we've never yet met a man who did much compromising with the man he had liked.

We believe in being sympathetic, but somehow or other we find it hard to be sorry for the man who deserves all he gets.

If the world is really going to be made fit for decent people to live in something will have to be done with the man who insists on using the street car floor for a cuspidor.

Now and then we slam down the desk and leave a lot of work that we ought to do undone, just for the pure cussed delight of showing those tasks we don't have to do them if we don't want to.—Detroit Free Press.

HEARD BY THE WAY

A kiss may be too sweet, or too deceitful for words.

Next to the man who is unwelcome in heaven, is the baby unwelcome on earth.

Take the enthusiasm out of a man's work, and you have taken the temper out of all his tools.

If you get ahead in the road of life your neighbors shout, "Greedy!" and if you fall behind, they shout, "Lazy!"

The greatest man this country ever produced wasn't great—he was only good, which is far better than to be great.

If justice were always visible on earth there would not be so much necessity for a just heaven to even things up.

In building state roads it seems that graft comes higher than crushed limestone, and is not nearly so free from dirt.

The other worlds are getting along all right, don't worry about them. Don't trade worlds until you cross the stream of life.

Strict honesty and truthfulness in the family, practiced every day, will do more good for the children than daily grace at the table.—Grit.

POINTERS

Opportunity and vacant lots must be improved to make them profitable.

If a woman admits that she snores you can safely believe anything she says.

A man isn't necessarily a figurehead just because he has a good head for figures.

IN OTHER CITIES

Atlanta is widening Peachtree street.

New York abolishes eye clinics in schools.

Chicago church has installed 16 women as ushers.

Memphis, Tenn., boycotts all "made in Germany" goods.

New York is to have a war hospital entirely run by women.

Lamy (N. M.) women are all employed in Red Cross work.

Marion (S. D.) postmaster has been in continuous service 34 years.

San Francisco is to have a class for the study of Russian language.

Columbus, O., is to have a war exposition November 9.

San Francisco has had a convention of ten forty-niner pioneers.

Attleboro (Mass.) watch factories will employ maimed American soldiers.

FROM THE PENCIL'S POINT

A man never poses as a hypocrite when he is alone.

A preferred creditor is one who never asks for his money.

Speaking of votes, it isn't quality but quantity that counts.

Misery loves company—and she usually has a houseful of it.

Lousy hens are not likely to prove good sitters. Lousy chicks lose vitality and die. A lousy flock is unthrifty. With poultry and eggs selling at high prices, the poultryman can well afford to apply the simple remedies which will keep his birds free from lice and mites.

The University of Missouri college of agriculture has used sodium fluoride effectively and recommends a larger use of it by poultrymen. This chemical is exceedingly poisonous to all species of chicken lice. It kills both adults and young, including the young which emerge from the eggs present at the time of treatment. One application of sodium fluoride to all fowls on the farm will completely destroy all lice present.

Sodium fluoride may be applied as a dust or as a dip. One pound of the chemical will be enough to dust about one hundred hens by the pinch method. This method, developed by the United States department of agriculture, is as follows: Hold the fowl by the legs or wings with one hand while with the other hand a small pinch of the chemical is placed among the feathers next to the skin. Apply one pinch on the head, one on the neck, two on the back, one on the breast, one below the vent, one on the tail, one on either thigh, and one scattered on the underside of each wing when spread. Hold the chicken over a large shallow pan while dusting, to recover the material that might ordinarily be lost.

Only One-Fifth of Hen's Egg Is Nutritious; Much of Substance Is Water

In a hen's egg only one-fifth of the substance is nutritious. One-ninth is refuse, and the greater portion, about two-thirds, is water, according to authority.

White-shelled eggs are not so good as yellow ones, for they contain a trifle more water and less fat.

Judged by the amount of nutriment, a goose's egg is the most valuable, next in order are ducks', guinea fowls', hens', turkeys', and plovers' eggs.

Eggs contain a large quantity of sulphur, which is purifying to the blood and good for the complexion. To get the best egg you must feed your fowl on grain. And to cook it in the most digestible way you must not boil the water. Heat the water to 180 degrees and leave the egg in it for ten minutes. You will then digest every morsel. But if you boil it for three minutes no less than one-twelfth of it will fail to be digested. Thus, if you eat two eggs boiled at 212 degrees every day you waste five dozen in a year.

Yankees in France Ate Millions of Pounds of Candy and Confections

An idea of the huge amount of candy consumed by the army is given in a war department announcement. During the five months from November 11, 1918, to April 11, 1919, there were purchased for shipment to the overseas forces 29,094,375 pounds of candy, 5,550,000 packages of salted almonds and peanuts and 2,625,000 packages of popcorn confection.

There was shipped during the month of February 5,335,696 pounds of candy. This included not only candy and confections for sale in the sales commissaries, but also the amount authorized by the ration allowance. The ration allowance of candy for our troops overseas for the month of November amounted to approximately 3,000,000 pounds.

It would take a convoy of $25 three-ton trucks to carry this amount of candy.

University of El Ezhar.

The El Ezhar university at Catro, Egypt, is the oldest university in the world, unless we believe a tradition that King Alfred founded the University of Oxford. It is a pretty large university, too, as 10,000 students occupy its classrooms and through its galleries. These students come from all parts of the Moslem world. The Mosque of El Ezhar supplies to all willing to learn the gratuitous instruction which ancient universities were supposed to give. Not one of them need pay a plaster for his education or his maintenance. Their text-book is mainly the Koran, which is supposed to contain all human wisdom and knowledge. El Ezhar was repaired and beautified by Tewfik, the khedive whose mysterious and sudden death was probably due to haters of the English.

Calvary Not Out of Date.

That cavalry is still a necessary and important branch of the army is emphasized by the Army and Navy Journal, which quotes an officer of the general staff, an authority on the cavalry arm, to this effect. He has pointed out that, until the airplane can be used as a means of rushing forward reinforcements and for reconnaissance at night, it cannot supersede the cavalry. Reference was also made to the signal success attained by General Allenby against the Turks in Palestine, which is attributed largely to his cavalry action.—Scientific American.
